THE HUNTER'S LEDGER

Sponsorship: Pricing and Packages

Independent threat intelligence research. Every report ships with working YARA, Sigma, and Suricata detections, validated IOC feeds, and evidence-tied attribution, alongside research working defenders actively integrate.

The Audience

A focused, technical security audience, concentrated where security buying decisions get made: the people who evaluate, recommend, deploy, and buy detection and tooling (detection engineers, threat-intel analysts, SOC analysts, and security leadership).

3,500+	112	57	41
on LinkedIn	Suricata rules live	IOC feeds	STIX bundles

The Suricata rules ship in a consolidated feed registered for suricata-update, running in stacks whose operators have never opened the site. The IOC feeds and STIX bundles are public and ready to pull straight into a detection stack or an OpenCTI instance.

Sponsorship Tiers

These are starting points, not limits. Bundle reports in any size, mix new and catalog, sponsor monthly, or build something custom.

Monthly Sponsor

FLAGSHIP

$500 / per month

Or $5,000 per year, paid up front
Two months free, a $1,000 saving (17% off)

New sponsors: first 3 months $300/mo, or a first full year at $4,400

Flagship, always-on presence, and the strongest value per dollar. Standing brand presence across the whole site, for as long as you sponsor.

- Logo and tagline site-wide: the left-margin Sponsors panel on every page and report, the footer, and a featured Sponsors slot
- Early access to the whole package before it goes public, the report and its detection rules and its IOC feed, plus first option to sponsor any upcoming report exclusively
- A welcome announcement post when you join, with extra posts any time at the add-on rate
- One Report sponsorship included free in your first month. You pick the report, and it carries the full Report Sponsor treatment: sole banner, no competing logos, permanent for that report's life
- Four research credits a year, one a quarter. Bring an indicator, a domain or a threat you are unsure about and get a private written answer with the evidence behind it
- Or spend two credits on a written read of the threats your organization should be watching for. I draw on what I see across investigations as well as the broader threat landscape

Report Sponsor

$150 / new report

Or $1,170 Year of Reports, 12 new reports across 12 months
A $630 saving (35% off the new-report rate)

$100 From the Catalog (33% off the new-report rate) · New sponsors: first new report $100

Exclusive single-report placement, one sponsor per report, no competing logos. Pick a new report at $150 or a catalog report at $100; the placement is permanent either way.

- Sole Sponsored-by banner at the top of the report, exclusive, no competing logos
- Logo and a link to your site or chosen landing page
- Permanent for the life of the report. It never expires
- You pick which report you sponsor, from anything already published or on the schedule
- I tell you when the case moves. If the infrastructure goes down, the operator resurfaces, or the report gets a substantive update, you hear from me
- A threat brief built from your report, designed and yours to share. Not a copy of it: the key points, what to act on today, and the parts that genuinely stand out
- The report's launch post credits you (LinkedIn, X, and the subscriber email that goes out with every new report). New reports only
- Early access before it goes public, and not just the report. The detection rules and the IOC feed come with it. New reports only

First-time sponsor? Your first run is discounted. First new report $100 (vs $150), or your first 3 months of Monthly at $300/mo (vs $500). Going annual from the start keeps the same discount: a first full year at $4,400.

Monthly or Annual

Both work, and either is equally welcome. Take whichever suits your budget cycle. Annual prepay is cheaper because planning a year ahead is worth something to me, so that saving is passed straight back rather than held as a negotiating chip. An annual term also locks your rate for its full length, so a published price rise cannot reach you mid term, and the lock holds through renewal: keep sponsoring without a break and you keep the rate you started at. Monthly stays flexible and can be stopped at the end of any billing month. The placements, the benefits, and the editorial independence are identical either way.

How you pay	Monthly Sponsor	Report Sponsor
As you go	$500 per month	$150 per new report, or $100 from the catalog
Bundled	Not applicable	3 new reports $335 (26% off) · 6 for $630 (30% off)
Annual	$5,000 per year. Two months free, a $1,000 saving, 17% off	$1,170 for 12 new reports. A $630 saving, 35% off
First time	First 3 months at $300, or a first year at $4,400	First new report $100

Optional Add-Ons

- Newsletter mention, $50, one-off sponsored mention in a subscriber email send
- Extra LinkedIn or X post, $50, a single dedicated sponsored post

Commissioned Research

> Name a threat your organization needs intelligence on and I will go and get it: original investigation, full technical analysis, working detections, and a published report, held to the same evidence standards and the same editorial independence as everything else.
> Priced on scope, because scope varies enormously. A single host or one open directory is a very different piece of work from a fifty-address infrastructure cluster with a malware family behind it. Tell me what you want to know and I will come back with a defined scope and a fixed price before any work starts.

Flexible and custom: bundles of any size, catalog mixes, multi-month, co-marketing, or something not listed. Tell me what you are trying to achieve and I will shape a package around it.

Editorial Independence

> Sponsorship buys placement and brand association, not content control. Sponsors do not review reports before publication, do not influence findings or attribution, and are never named as contributors. Placement is always disclosed. This is not native advertising.
